HLF digital projects and People’s Collection Wales

09/11/2012

HLF is encouraging projects it funds in Wales to make their digital content accessible to the public.

This can be done through the People’s Collection Wales website as well as through their own websites and other digital applications.

People’s Collection Wales is a contemporary, dynamic and bilingual online experience dedicated to the history of Wales and its people. Drawing together national collections such as those of the three main partners – The National Library of Wales, the National Museums of Wales and the Royal Commission on the Ancient and Historical Monuments of Wales – with items from local and regional museums, archives and libraries, and community groups and individuals.
