

Outcome: heritage will be identified and better explained

What this outcome means

If your project is a success, then there will be new or improved ways to help people make sense of heritage.

This might include:

- displays in a museum
- a website with information about the biodiversity and geodiversity of a landscape
- talks or tours in a historic building or online
- a guide to a historic house
- improved Wikipedia information about industrial heritage

What we are looking for

Heritage information will be accessible.

Visitors and users will tell you that the interpretation and information you provide are easy to use and appropriate for their needs and interests, and that they help their understanding, and improve their experience of heritage.