

Role
Committee Member for the North East
Stacy Hall is a communications and marketing consultant with expertise in tourism, regeneration and economic development.

She has extensive public sector and local government experience, having worked for several local authorities and development agencies.

Stacy has lived and worked in the North East her whole life and has a strong appreciation of the value of the region’s cultural heritage and how heritage contributes to employment, education and business opportunities for local people.

Read more about Stacy's experiences on the North East committee.