Sharing Heritage/Our Heritage/Young Roots/First WW
1.	Development of the Ashington Memorial Garden	This year long project aims to research, record and commemorate the contribution that the people of Ashington have made during times of conflict. A memorial garden will be developed with an enhanced War Memorial as its centrepiece. The sculpture from the existing War Memorial will be retained on a new brick plinth and inset plaques will detail the names of the 996 people who gave their lives during the First and Second World Wars. Children from four local schools will carry out research which will then be used to produce interpretation boards for permanent display within the garden.	Ashington Town Council	Award Grant of £44,000 (29%)
2.	The Knott Trail - Rediscovering Sir James Knott's influence on village communities in North Tyneside	This 12 month project will see young people explore Sir James Knott's life and his contribution to North Tyneside. Young people will receive training on interview techniques, photography, archiving and document handling. The life of Sir James Knott will be researched through interviews with local historians and visits to relevant local sites and heritage organisations. Working with Roots and Wings, a participatory design company, young people will work with older people from Age UK to design a Knott Trail board game and leaflet. A celebration event and exhibition will be held at YMCA North Tyneside for young people to showcase their work and receive certificates of achievement.	YMCA North Tyneside	Award Grant £37,200 (100%)
3.	"They answered their Country's Call": All Saints' Church and the First World War	This one year project will explore the impact of the FWW on Middlesbrough through the replacement and interpretation of a war memorial plaque from All Saints Church in Middlesbrough. A replica of the previously stolen FWW memorial will be created and installed in the plaque's original position at the front of the church. The original damaged memorial will be displayed permanently in a case display inside the church and interpreted through an information panel. A placement student from Teeside University will lead a public memories project researching the history of Middlesbrough and churches during the FWW. The research collected throughout the project will inform a temporary exhibition displayed in the church and then made available to local school and community organisations	All Saints' Church Middlesbrough	Award Grant of £8,500 (100%)

4.	'A Hero In My Eyes'- The Great War and Washington	This five month project will engage students and the wider community in the FWW heritage of Washington through research into local war memorials. 220 year 9 students at St Robert of Newminster School will research the experiences of battalions and individual soldiers detailed on local war memorials. They will visit at least one of four local monuments with a family member and explore related personal stories through archival research and oral history interviews. The research will be used to create a published book called 'A Hero in my Eyes' and 300 copies will be donated to families of all participants, schools libraries in Washington and public libraries in the North East	St. Robert of Newminster Catholic School	Award Grant of £5,000 (100%)
5.	Tees Valley's Great War	This eight month project uses five strands of the Tees Valley's local FWW heritage to form the focus of engagement: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the bombardment of Hartlepool and Durham Light Infantry's involvement in returning fire</li> <li>• the resultant morale boost felt when King George V and Queen Mary visited the Middlesbrough, South Bank and Stockton Shipyards</li> <li>• commemorations held at Albert Park and Dorman Museum</li> <li>• Stewarts Park being used as a military training ground</li> <li>• Marske's Royal Flying Corps school; at which the 'Biggles' author taught, and the man responsible for shooting down the Red Baron was stationed</li> </ul> A team of volunteers will research local FWW themes and interpret this information through project outputs and talking to audiences at events. Outputs include six pop up exhibition banners, seven reminiscence boxes and community events.	CSV	Award Grant of £9,800 (100%)
